Task 2a Read the short texts about Australian people and label the place on the map.

I'm Carrie. I live in the capital of New South Wales, and the largest city in the country. It's got everything – fantastic beaches – who hasn't heard of Bondi beach? - , the trendiest shops, non-stop nightlife, and only two hours away, you've got the Blue Mountains – breath-taking scenery and fresh air. And the climate here is fantastic!

I'm Pete and I'm from Melbourne, the capital of Victoria. OK, the weather is a bit miserable here, but we still have the best culture and sport! Every year, we have Australia's top horse racing event here, as well as the Australian Tennis Open and the Grand Prix. and this city is where Australian Rules Football came from! It's not surprising I'm a sports fanatic!

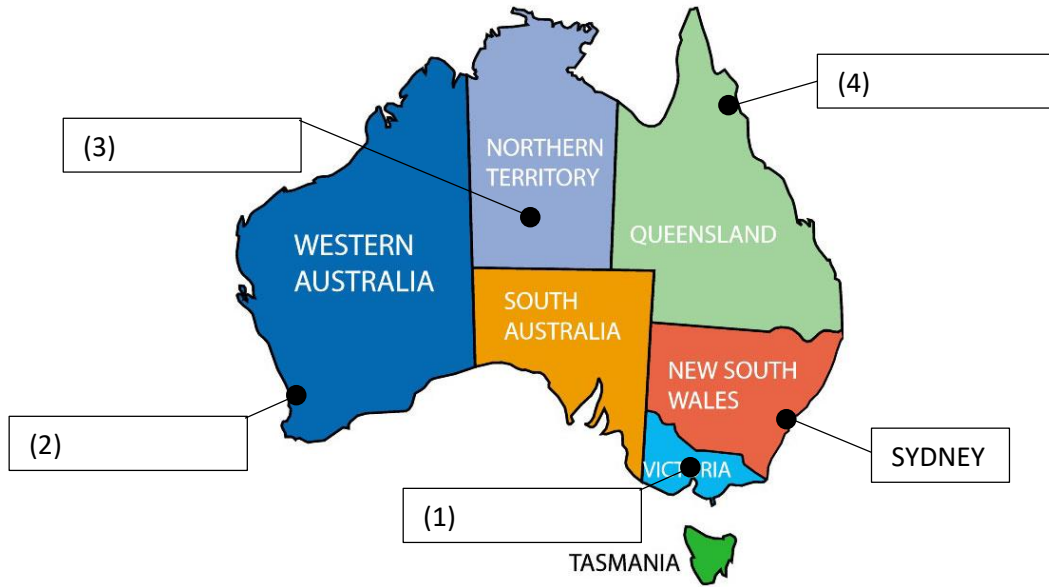

My name's Sean, and I'm from Perth which lies on the Swann River. It's a peaceful, clean place to live with hot weather and brilliant blue skies. Western Australia has 12 000 km of the best surfing spots in the world. That's what I live for – the sea and the surf!

I'm Abbie. I live in the centre of Australia, in the outback. Everyone comes here to Alice Springs to see the massive red rock, Uluru. I like the fact that here we are closer to the real Aborigine culture. I've learnt a lot about it. My dad works for the School of the Air, teaching kids all over the state who live far from a school. So it really is the heart of the country.

I'm Jordan and I live in Cairns, the perfect place for exploring Australia's biggest attraction – the Great Barrier Reef. It stretches over 2 300 kilometres along the Queensland coast. There are more than 1 000 islands, where you can dive, snorkel, sail and swim. Just 25 km north of Cairns is the rainforest – a tropical paradise!

Task 5 Read the following text and find the mistakes with the apostrophes. Write the correct form at the end of the line.

Gorillas know how to use apostrophe

There are twenty-five apostrophe errors in this poster. Youv'e to identify them faster than the gorilla. The gorilla took only two minutes and the gorillas kid took only three minutes. Its a different matter that the kid identified 27of them. You shouldve identified four of them by now. You didn't, right? Go back and check again. You did'nt notice that the kid gorillas right foot has only four toes, did you? So, you looked. Im sure you thought I was bluffing. Arent you glad I distracted you and probably led you to lose count? I'm generally quite helpful. Thank you. Talking about gorilla's, did you know that they usually dont sleep in the same nest for more than one night? Thats a bit weird, isn't it? Yes, gorillas are weird. But, theyre good with apostrophes. That reminds me, while you we're looking at the picture, did you notice that the big gorilla too has only four toes on it's right foot? So, you came back counting all the fingers and toes? Thinking ahead, right? Lets see if you did a thorough job. Did you notice that the big gorilla has a black spot on it's left leg? If it werent for this spot, the big gorilla wouldnt have become the lead female of the troop. Gorillas hold black spots on left leg in very high regard. However, gorillas who cant use apostrophes correctly are not regarded very well, even if they had a black spot on they're left leg. Gorillas' eat banana's, roots, stems and flowers. _____ (20) _____ (21) Your probably wondering why I mentioned this random fact. _____ (22) Well then, did you feel that the rest of this prose was wonderfully coherent? You're probably not awa're that you're losing the battle. _____ (23) Remember, the gorilla's timing was only two minutes. How long did you take? Did you get all twenty-five? Ill bet that you didn't. _____ (24) I told you, it isn't easy to beat a gorilla on apostrophe usage. Why don't you give it another shot? _____ (25)

Task 6 Read the text. Use the sentences below to complete the text. Write the letter of the missing sentence in the box in the correct gap.

Ant Invaders

Ants can ruin picnics and drive cooks out of kitchens. The tiny invaders may also wreck the rules by which entire communities of their peers work, new research suggests. (e.g.)

Argentine ants are native to South America, but they now live in warm places on six continents. (1) _____

In 1993, Nathan Sanders of Humboldt State University in Arcata, California, saw that the ants were moving north through California. (2) _____

Sanders and his co-workers went to nearby Jasper Ridge Biological Preserve before the South American ants arrived. (3) _____

But after the Argentine ants showed up, everything changed. Suddenly, native ants in the preserve were more scattered* and much more likely to live in contact with other native species. (4) _____

Sanders thinks that the invaders changed all the rules that native ants normally live by to make them behave in new ways. (5) _____

At least, we're still safe, however. Ants can destroy our picnics, but, for now, they've left our communities intact!

- A This being said, many ants don't travel long distances.
- B Seven years of data suggest the changeover happened fast.
- C Also, they have spread to 21 states in the U.S.A.
- D However, ants are very intelligent creatures.
- E Other ecologists are not yet convinced.
- F The researchers found some 20 species of ants living there. Different species rarely interacted with each other.
- G Curious to see if the little critters were affecting other ants as they moved, he decided to do a little experiment.
- H This research was done by the Animal Society Group based in Scotland.
